

Shelburne Farms

Annual Financial Report

Dear Friend of Shelburne Farms,

With your deeply appreciated support, we remain hopeful as we continue to focus on our mission to inspire and cultivate learning for a sustainable future. Here are a few highlights of what you helped make possible over the last year:

- You helped us reimagine how we can increase the impact and reach of our education programs. We established the Shelburne Farms Institute for Sustainable Schools as the umbrella connecting hub for all our professional learning programs for educators preK-12 around the world. In partnership with the University of Vermont we are launching innovative Education for Sustainability graduate certificate programs. At the same time, we are expanding our farm-to-school professional learning model across the country. Through virtual classes, outdoor workshops, online learning videos, and in-person school visits, we engaged students in the big ideas of sustainability and helped educators adapt their teaching practices for a sustainable future.
- You helped us welcome the community and visitors to enjoy our extensive network of walking trails. We believe that access to the natural world and places of great beauty is essential to the well-being of people everywhere, and we have continued to keep our trails open by donation.
- You helped us share and care for our working farm landscape and historic campus. You provided additional support for advancing our mission and provided financial sustainability by staying in our guest houses and purchasing our farm products at the Farm Store and by mail order. We continued making repairs and improvements on our principal historic structures and made significant progress on the Windmill Hill Land Conservation Project that will protect a beautiful area in the core of the property for farming, wildlife, public enjoyment, and education programs.

We are always guided by the question, “What transformational experiences can we offer to help create a sustainable future?” While specific programs may vary, the thread through all of them is our belief in the power of learning experiences grounded in place and community and enriched by nature.

Thank you again for making possible all that Shelburne Farms is, does, and aspires to be, both on our campus and beyond.

Gratitude for You

In 2021 there were 4,408 donors to Shelburne Farms. We are deeply grateful to the Town of Shelburne, and every individual, family, foundation, government agency, and business for all gifts of every amount that keep Shelburne Farms going. If you are a new supporter, we hope you are at the beginning of a life-long relationship with Shelburne Farms. Please let us know if we have misspelled or omitted your name(s) in these listings. Thank you!

Stewards of the Farm

The Stewards of Shelburne Farms include many of our most dedicated friends and generous supporters, giving $1,000 or more annually. Many thanks to our 2021 Stewards!

Shelburne Farms Legacy Circle

We recognize and celebrate all who have included Shelburne Farms in their estate plans. The Legacy Circle honors the vision of Derick Webb, whose bequest in 1984 gifted the property to the education nonprofit. His was the first of many generous bequests for which we are deeply grateful. If you have included Shelburne Farms in your estate plans, or would like information about doing so, we would love to hear from you and add you as a Legacy Circle member.

PROGRAMS: In 2021, we continued advancing our education mission through remote learning opportunities for educators and students. These included online workshops on Education for Sustainability (above left). In the fall, we launched a year-long, schoolwide sustainability initiative in Georgia, Vermont, together with Up for Learning. Students designed local action projects to help achieve targeted UN Sustainable Development Goals (above right). They shared their challenges and successes through online gatherings with other schools doing similar work with us in Nepal and Mississippi.

PROGRAMS: As the year moved on, we opened up for some onsite programs. In August, we convened 14 Vermont farm to school leaders to share how farm to school is transforming students, schools, and communities. At the event, U.S. Senator Patrick Leahy (above left with student and panelist Jeswin Antony), and U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Tom Vilsack announced their continuing support for this work, including $500,000 from USDA Food & Nutrition Service to expand our farm to school professional learning model nationwide. In October, we led a place-based education experience for participants in UVM's annual John Dewey education conference (above right), just one event in a long partnership with UVM that continues to grow.

PROGRAMS: Because of the pandemic's ongoing impact on classrooms, most students and teachers simply wanted—and needed—to get outside, decompress, and experience the "real" world. We were able to meet that need for many. In particular, we welcomed students from the Winooski, VT School District to our campus and worked with their educators to embed place-based learning in their day-to-day curriculum (above left). It's a relationship that continues to thrive in 2022.

Loyal Friends

Shelburne Farms is grateful to the many loyal friends who support our mission year after year. We are honored to celebrate current donors who have consistently contributed gifts of any amount for twenty years or more.

PROGRAMS: For all of us, 2021 allowed us to carefully resume some "normal" activities. For us, that looked like reintroducing outdoor programs for families and adults, like evening campfires with raptor guests (above left). We also launched new tours of the Formal Gardens, giving more people the opportunity to enjoy the grounds of the Inn and renew their appreciation for the care and stewardship that goes into creating such a beautiful outdoor space.

PRODUCTS: Our products are a unique touchstone to this working farm campus and a reminder of our shared connections to local food systems. In 2021, our pasture-raised Brown Swiss cows produced more than 2 million pounds of milk, most of which went into making 161,735 pounds of cheddar cheese. Our dairy and cheese staff brought care and craft to every step of the process: building healthy, climate-tempering pastures and soil, tending to our cows, and transforming their milk into cheddar. We were able to share some of this with visitors again in our cheesemaking viewing area, enriching our campus for learning.

We love and support Shelburne Farms because of its education mission and because we can't imagine it not existing—it's an amazing place. It's so easy to enjoy its beauty, but to know that Shelburne Farms is helping educators around the world teach students about caring for the environment, now that's powerful!

PRODUCTS: In 2021, we managed 400 acres of woodlands, generating live-edge lumber boards and nearly 820 gallons of maple syrup. That sweet goodness, the beautiful wood products, our cheddar, and the produce from our seven-acre Market Garden were all showcased at the Farm Store, which continued to be a hub for our community and visitors. The Farm Store also shared prepared foods made by our kitchen staff, dishes that featured vegetables, meats, and fruit from here and other Vermont producers. All these efforts reflect our commitment to building and educating about the value of local food systems.

PLACE: In the relative quiet of 2021, and with the generosity of donors, we were able to tackle some campus improvements, installing lightning protection systems at the Inn, Coach Barn, and Farm Barn, and repairing the Inn's 11 chimneys (above left). In the fall, we received a Save America's Treasures matching grant to complete exterior repairs to the Breeding Barn (1891) (above right). This will support the continuing transformation of the Breeding Barn into a spectacular and inspirational gathering space integrated with our education and community program activities.

PLACE: As they have throughout the pandemic, our walking trails were open by donation to allow people to get out and enjoy the company of nature and each other. In 2021, we also strengthened our farm as an educational campus: a Motus tracker system was installed to help collect data on birds, bats, and insects tagged for scientific research (above right). These include bobolinks and Savannah Sparrows that nest in our fields. They have been the subject of nearly twenty years of study, and we have long adapted our haying schedule to encourage these grassland birds to thrive here.

Foundations & Granting Partners

We are grateful to the following foundations and granting organizations for their generous support of $1,000 or more in 2021.

About the Cover

A student spends a quiet moment with one of our sheep. Enriching experiences like this were part of our summer programming for both students and teachers in the Winooski School District in Vermont, a relationship that has continued into 2022.

Shelburne Farms

1611 Harbor Road • Shelburne, Vermont 05482
shelburnefarms.org • 802-985-8686

Shelburne Farms is a 501(c)(3) education nonprofit on a mission to inspire and cultivate learning for a sustainable future. We believe that transformative learning experiences sow the seeds for a more just and thriving world. Our work seeks to create the space, spark the conversations, and share the stories to inspire educators and students to build a better future for everyone.

Our home campus is located on the unceded, traditional, and contemporary homelands of the Winooskik band of the Abenaki.
